In this webinar, Danielle Nierenberg, founder of FoodTank, the fastest growing non-profit in Food Movement, will walk participants through the basics of sustainable food and discuss legislation and policy on sustainability in the US.

To help you connect with patients on sustainability, Chris Vogliano, MS, RD, will provide evidence supported recommendations and clear communication strategies for RDNs and DTRs to integrate into their practices. Patients and clients are seeking specific, actionable recommendations on sustainable nutrition and this webinar will help you meet that demand.

Learning Objectives:

After completing this continuing education course, nutrition professionals should be able to:

1. Identify and understand basic principles of sustainable food.
2. Understand sustainable food initiatives and related legislation and policy in the US.
3. Recognize the positive relationship between nutrition and sustainability.
4. Incorporate the sustainability and nutrition connection into nutrition counseling and practice.
5. Provide patients and clients with tools and resources to help them integrate more sustainable food and nutrition practices into their daily lives.
