Co-managing a cancer survivor requires a clearly-defined medical plan and collaboration from all team members. On Wednesday, July 24, 2019 from 2-3 p.m. EDT, this webinar will focus on the role diet and nutritional factors play in influencing both the quality and duration of life after the diagnosis of cancer.

Dietitian Shayna Komar will work in collaboration with Chef Nancy Waldeck to show how a partnership made up of different healthcare professionals can work to make a positive impact for a cancer survivor. The dietitians' role may include developing a patient care plan that is not confusing with all different diets. The chef's role may include taking the nutrition advice from the dietitian to develop a menu, create recipes, and provide information on purchasing and preparation. Overall, nutrition can play a positive role for a thriving survivor if it is done well.

After completing this continuing education course, nutrition professionals should be able to:

1. Obtain a working knowledge of how to collaborate with a multitude of medical professionals when seeing an oncology patient.
2. List the basic treatment-related side effects of cancer and how they affect the overall nutrition plan.
3. Incorporate tips, ideas and recipes into counseling a cancer survivor when they are dealing with other nutrition-related issues.
